DETAILED ACTION

Amendment filed on November 21, 2006 has been acknowledged. Claims 1-16 are pending.

Response to Amendment

Rejection of Claims 1-8 and 11-16 as being anticipated by Buechler (US 6271040) has been withdrawn in light of applicant's amendments.

Rejection of Claims 9 and 10 as being obvious over Buechler has been withdrawn in light of applicant's amendments.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 1 recites the limitation "the used fluid" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
3. Claim 1 recites the limitation "the stop valve" in line 12. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kellogg (US 2001/0001060).

Kellogg teaches a device for controlling fluid using surface tension of the fluid. The device comprises at least one storage chamber (301) to which a fluid is injected and stored, at least one reaction chamber (307) in which a predetermined reaction occurs on the fluid, and at least one exhaust chamber (306) in which the used fluid is exhausted. The device further comprises a first stop valve/capillary junction (303) located between the at least one storage chamber (301) and the at least one reaction chamber (307). Kellogg further teaches a second stop valve/capillary junction of (307) is located between the at least one reaction chamber (307) and the at least one exhaust chamber (306). Kellogg further teaches at least one side connecting channel (305) which connects the first stop valve to the second stop valve wherein the stop valves stop the flow of the fluid using the surface tension of the fluid and the flow through the connecting channel (305) opens the stop valve/capillary junction. The device further comprises at least one flow delay part (311) that is formed within the side connecting channel (305) and delays flow of the fluid by surface tension of the fluid. Kellogg further teaches the fluid moves from the storage chamber (301) to the reaction chamber (307) and exhaust chamber (306) by means of surface tension while replacement of the fluid with a different fluid/gas/air naturally occurs in the reaction chamber (307). (See Figures 5A-6K) (See [0109]-[0118]) The stop valves and the at least one flow delay part adjusts the surface tension by deforming the channel geometry. The device further comprises at least two device connected in series or in parallel. The device further comprises a filter and at least one separation chamber. (See [0085] and [0194]) The device further comprises at least one air vent (212).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Refer above.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
